Mind Projects is a company that offers solutions to customer needs in the fields of Consulting Services, Passenger Rights, Organization Services and Software Services, with services offered to hundreds of different companies in many different sectors.

Diploma Equivalence Application

Equivalence is the German equivalent of the school you graduated from in Turkey and your professional diploma. In addition to your diploma, your work experience and professional certificates are also evaluated during the equivalence process. If the competent authority approves your full equivalence at the end of this process, you can then apply for a job with the professional permit (professional permit is only required for regulated professions). The equivalence process takes approximately 4-6 months to

The equivalence process can be either full equivalence or partial equivalence. There may be areas where the Turkish and German education systems do not fully match. In the case of partial equivalence, the official institution will review your diploma and transcript and determine your missing courses or hours. Once the deficiencies are identified, a periodic internship (orientation course) begins (for healthcare professionals, education-related professions). After successfully completing the internship (orientation course), you can receive your equivalence and continue your career.

Employee Safety

A company's true value is undoubtedly a reflection of the knowledge, skills, and experience of its trained personnel. Therefore, the working conditions, health, and motivation of its employees are crucial factors in the success of organizations. Therefore, the world's most successful companies continually strive to protect and develop their valuable personnel resources.

Software Services

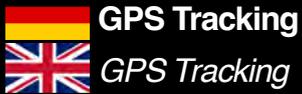

All companies, individuals, and organizations entering the new world of technology are striving to secure their place in this field by commissioning web design. To stand out in this field, a web design must stand out from the crowd. The most essential qualities required for a web design are ease of navigation, a reliable software infrastructure, and a well-structured infrastructure.

Many web designs today are designed with a less-than-professional approach. The goal of professional web design is to create the simplest, most user-friendly infrastructure that allows users to access the information they need most easily. These factors should be taken into consideration when designing a web page.

Real Time Tracking

With MindGPS, you can track your entire fleet instantly and see where each vehicle is in seconds. Thanks to advanced map integration, you can review the past movements of your vehicles and analyze stops, speed violations and waiting times in detail. In this way, you can increase driving safety, optimize routes and make your operational processes most efficient.

In addition, thanks to real-time notifications, you can receive instant warnings about situations such as your vehicles straying from your specified route, unusual acceleration or unplanned stops.

Data Analytics and Reporting

MindGPS's advanced data analytics features help you improve your operations by transforming big data from all vehicles in your fleet into meaningful insights. You can view critical information such as vehicle usage times, fuel consumption data, speed violations and driving habits with detailed reports.

For example, which drivers consume more fuel than necessary? Which vehicles make too many stops? Which routes are more operationally efficient? You can find answers to these questions and make strategic decisions in fleet management. You can also predict future costs and increase efficiency in the long term with AI-supported analysis.

Fleet Electrification

In today's world, electric vehicles are not just a trend, they also offer companies a huge opportunity in terms of cost advantage and environmental sustainability. MindGPS offers comprehensive analytics to ease the transition of your fleet to electric vehicles.

You can track the battery levels of your electric vehicles, determine the most suitable charging stations, and plan fleet management in the most efficient way by analyzing energy consumption. By determining which tasks vehicles are more suitable for during the electrification process, you can minimize fuel and maintenance costs and reduce your carbon footprint.

Cost Management and Fuel Optimization

One of the biggest cost items in fleet management is fuel consumption. With MindGPS's fuel optimization solutions, you can monitor the fuel consumption of each vehicle instantly and prevent unnecessary fuel expenses.

For example, which drivers consume more fuel at high speeds? Which vehicles waste unnecessary fuel during stops? Based on this data, you can organize driver training programs and optimize routes to ensure less fuel consumption.

In addition, you can track the maintenance times of the vehicles in the fleet to minimize maintenance costs and avoid large costs by making preventive maintenance plans.
